TROUBLE FOR DEMOCRATS

SOUTH DISPLACES WEST IN PARTY'S MANAGEMENT.

GRIGOS'S LEADERSHIP PLEASES REPUBLI-CANS-DEFEAT OF JONES.

Washington, March 30 - Events of the last week show plainly that the Democratic leaders in Congress are energetically working out a plan for the Congress campaign this year, with a view of welding their party together for the Presidential contest of 1904. Whether they accomplish what they have started out to do is. of course, a different matter, though it cannot be denied that they are animated by a more hopeful spirit than they have displayed for sev eral years, but, being Democrats of course they are inconsistent and illogical even in their preliminary work. For example, when Bryan was last here he received the chillest treatment that ever was accorded to him since he became "the Peerless." The meaning of this was and obviously is that the Democratic managers are looking for a new "peerless." What, then, is to be thought of them when they turn around and put at the head of their Congress campaign committee the one man to whom all the anti-Bryanites in Congress had declared only a week ago should not be intrusted so important a post? A pretty paper plan had been arranged with what seemed to reveal gleams of intelligence to place the management of the Congress campaign in hands untainted with Bryanism, and ex-Congressman Ben Davis, of Illinois, had consented to serve as chairman of the executive committee of the general committee, which meant that all the real work was to be done by this experienced manipulator and "plutocrat. But when the new Congress campaign committee held a meeting last Friday night, the offer of Mr. Cable was rejected, and Mr. Griggs, of House, and, like Bryan, is a "boy orator," with no other known qualifications to recommend him except that he had "legged" mightily for the place, was elected chairman. This puts the Southern Democracy again in the saddle-the very thing the thoughtful and farsighted members of the party were trying to prevent. Mr. Griggs represents a rural district that returned him last year with a total vote of a little over 7,000 to "24 scattering," in the language he employs in the Congress directory to describe his political achievements. SELECTION PLEASES REPUBLICANS.

In other words, the Democrats have selected to manage their national Congress campaign a man who has never had a fight in his own district. It is conceded without question that this is their own affair, but it is also suggested by their critics that if they are really going to make a fight for Congress the country would respect them more if they would make a vigorous and intelligent fight. It I may be that the original programme for their Congress campaign will be $2,000. The following contributed $1,000 each; carried out partly, in that Chairman Griggs will John Totten, Robert Gray, G. Walter Smith, appoint Mr. Cable chairman of the executive committee, but even if the Ellinois man should accept the place, which is doubtful, the ambius young Georgian will see to it that Mr. Cable is a mere figurehead in the enterprise

Naturally, the Republicans are much pleased with the turn the Democrats, with their usual fatulty, have given to their Congress campaign. This remark is also applicable to the manner in which the Democratic majority in both the House and Senate are conducting themselves. An analysis of their course to date demonstrates that they still view "imperialism" as the paramount issue. Upon this ground they opposed the Philippine Revenue bill in the Senate as well as the House, and now they are fighting the Philippine Civil Government bill on the same grounds. The fact that the people rejected this issue in a square fight seems to make no difference whatever to the Democratic managers. Even Watterson and Gorman are ringing the changes on "imperialism," and while the Kentucky editor formulated the new platform at the annual dinner of the Virginia Society in this city last week, declaring that the party must drop all discussion of both Bryan and Cleveland, on the penalty of excommunication to those who dare to act differently, still he continues to have dreadful visions about "the man on horseand similar appurtenances of im perialism. He and Mr. Gorman also see some thing awful in Mr. Crumpacker's innocent proposition to investigate the election laws and methods of every State in the Union with the view of cutting down represen tation to the basis of the actual vote instead of permitting one voter in one part of the country to wield the power of two or three voters in another part of the country. To the affrighted eyes of Messrs. Watterson and Gorman there is a "force bill" in the Crumpacker proposition, and this thought makes them lament in pene trating outcries the fate of this nation and the weal of free government through the earth.

STRADDLING A FENCE.

It cannot be expected that the Democrats in Congress would be consistent in their course even on this, their favorite and paramount issue, imperialism. If logic and consistency Democratic attributes the Democrats would hail with delight the opportunity afforded by the Payne bill to enter into a reciprocal trade arrangement with Cuba. Instead of doing this, they are about evenly divided on this proposition in both houses. While, of course, professing an overweening desire to do something for Cuba, and always proclaiming the wish to smash the tariff whenever the chance to do so is presented, they are still doing everything in their power to embarrass the movement for Cuban reciprocity, because the representatives of the beet sugar interest are vowing vengeance on every man in Congress who votes for the Payne bill. In other words, the Democrats are protectionists as to Cuba and anti-imperialists as to everything else. Stated in another form, Democratic statesmanship in Congress begins and ends with the doctrine that everything proposed by the payty in popular that verything proposed by the party in power must e opposed.

Decidedly the most inconsistent development Decidedly the most inconsistent development of Democratic politics during the last week was the defeat of Senator James K. Jones in the Arkansas primaries for renomination. Senator Jones is chairman of the Democratic National Committee and titular leader of his party in the State. He is also Bryan's guide, philosopher and friend. "The Peeriess" fought openly for Jones's renomination, even going so far as to assert positively in his newspaper that the Round Bale Cotton Company, in which the Arkansas statesman is a leading stockholder, does not belong to that category of things that cause Democratic statesmen to lose hope, sleep and health—to wit, the trusts. Senator Jones read from every stump in Arkansas a letter from "the Peerless" stating that Mr. Bryan personally had investigated the matter and discovered that the Round Bale Cotton concern was not a trust. The Senator also told his erstwhile Arkansas admirers that he was a poor man, which, he asserted, he certainly would not be if he owned stock in a trust. But the Arkansas folks were unmoved by these decisimers, and in their primary elections yesterday they repudiated Jones, thereby, of course, repudiating Bryan and the whole Bryan organization. The fact that this was done by what is known as the "one gallus" Democracy of Arkansas gives the occurrence a significance that emphasizes the inconsistency of the election of Mr. Griggs, of Georgia—a high priest among the "one gallus" Democracy and a stanch and true Bryanite—to the chairmanship of the Congress campaign committee over the earnest protest of the leaders at this end of the line of the antiampaign committee over the earnest protest of he leaders at this end of the line of the anti-

Bryan movement.

In view of these several strange occurrences of the last week Northern and Western Democrats in Washington are asking one another, "Where are we at?" At this writing nobody has ventured to answer the question.

DEBT OF $52,000 RAISED

CONGREGATION OF UNION METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH PLEDGES THAT AMOUNT AT THREE SERVICES.

Methodist Episcopal Church, in Forty-eighthst., west of Broadway, over the raising of a mortgage of $52,000. The work was accomdished under the auspices of the Twentieth Century Thank Offering Commission, which has recently raised in quick succession debts on the Georgia, who is serving his third term in the following churches: Calvary, One-hundred-andtwenty-ninth-st. and Seventh-ave., $72,000; Grace Church, West One-hundred-and-fourthst., $50,000; St. James's Church, Madison-ave. and One-hundred-and-twenty-sixth-st., $42,000; the Centenary Church, Washington-ave, and One-hundred-and-sixty-sixth-st., $20,000, and Washington Heights, Amsterdam-ave, and Onehundred-and-fifty-third-st., $15,000.

Altogether in the last year about $350,000 has been subscribed for debts on Methodist churches in Manhattan, and inspired by this success the Baptists and Presbyterians have also resolved to cancel the mortgages on their churches in this city.

'After a sermon at the morning session by Bishop C. H. Fowler, and appeals by the Rev. Dr. E. S. Tipple and John D. Slayback, the work of soliciting the pledges was begun

The amount raised at the morning session was $30,405. The principal givers and their subscriptions were as follows: S. W. Bowne, $5,000; A. Carmichel, $4,000; James Bradley, $2,500; John Beattle, $2,500, and John D. Slayback, W. C. Keller, Epworth League, and John subscriptions. The sum of $2,000 was pledged in $250 subscriptions. A. Carmichael promised to be responsible for $1,000, if another $1,000 was pledged at once. It was soon done in small subscriptions. One member said his little grand-daughter would pledge $100 and his little grand-son another $100. The sum of $25 was announced for "Baby Williams" and a similar amount for "Baby Weaser."

At 10:30 o'clock $500 was needed to make up the necessary $52,000. One woman pledged the last $10 to be paid on the mortgage, and $25 was pledged in memory of Hazel Bradley. Just before 11 o'clock it was announced that $52,140 in all had been pledged. The Rev. Dr. Millard said it seemed as if a burden had been lifted from his heart. He felt that the future of the church was assured, and that it would in the future enjoy great prosperity. A prayer of thanks was offered by R. J. Gray, and Bishop Fowler pronounced the benediction.

WESTERN WIRES USELESS.

FOR FIFTEEN MINUTES BLAZING WEST-ERN UNION CABLES SHUT OFF COMMUNICATION.

Nearly the entire western service of the Western Union Telegraph Company was put out of graph and electric light cables under the elevated road structure at the southwest corner of Dey and Greenwich sts. They caused quite a blaze, and the firemen were called to extinguish Simultaneously with the outbreak of the fire the incandescent bulbs above the main switchboard in the Western Union operating room, on the ninth floor of the Western Union Building, began lighting up. These bulbs are for detecting grounded wires. A report soon reached the office from a wireman who happened to see the blaze and explained the lights in the bulbs.

Jere Quinn, an employe of the company, saw the fire and ran to the headquarters of Fire Battalion Chief Kruger. An alarm was turned in, which sent four engines and seven trucks to the scene. When they arrived one stream served to extinguish the flaming insulation and a small fire which had started in the frame platform beside the elevated track. An elevated train passed along the track before the fire engines arrived, and the engineer blew his whistle until the engines arrived. A Western Union employe who was on the ground said that seven cables, containing one hundred wires of the western division, left the ground at Dey and Greenwich sis, and were carried along the elevated road for a little distance. They were important wires, he said, and the telegraph service was considerably crippled without them. the fire and ran to the headquarters of Fire

A Western Union switchman said that of the A western Union switchman said hat of the twenty-two Chicago wires usually working only two were available last night. A number of the Western wires were grounded, he said. The offices' at Buffalo and Philadelphia connected their heaviest batteries on the wires here, and the Western service was resumed through those cities.

Lord & Taylor,

REFUSAL COST HER LIFE.

BECAUSE HE COULD NOT EARN ENOUGH TO PLEASE SWEETHEART, MAN SHOOTS HER AND SELF.

Because Sigmund Blanc was unable to earn nough money to suit the taste of Ida Klobock, both their lives came to a sudden end Saturday night. The mystery surrounding the tragedy of Corlears Park, the facts about which were print ed in The Tribune yesterday, was cleared yesterday, and the bodies were identified. Blanc was a cigarmaker, of No. 194 Madison-st. The girl worked in a factory and lived with her parents at No. 26 Rutgers-st.

Blanc knew Ida Klobock in Poland. He courted her there. When they came to America, a few years ago, he continued his attentions. About eight months ago he moved from Philadelphia to New-York, in order to be near her. He went to work for Kerbs, Werthelmer & Schiffler, at Seventieth-st, and Avenue A. Every Saturday night he spent with Miss Klobock. To Joseph Klein, who worked with him, he often said that, he could not live without the girl, but ne never threatened to take her life.

The girl told her parents that Sigmund wanted to marry her. "But he fools me," she told her mother last Wednesday. Sigmund had been to see her the night before. "He says he makes $1S a week," the girl said, "and I know he does not make that much. I do not think he makes half that much. I told him to bring his pay envelope on Saturday to let me see it, and if it were that much then I would tell him if I would marry him Blanc's friend, Klein, says he worked exceedingly hard last week. He tried to make all he could and even tried to get overtime. At noon on Saturday he left the shop. Blanc called at the girl's home at 7 p. m. He and Ida left the house together, saying they were going to the theatre. They both seemed happy and cheerful. saw a couple sitting on a bench in Corlear's Park about 9:30 p. m. He passed them once in company with Sergeant Ryan and was return-ing alone when he saw the man place a pistol to the girl's head and fire. The girl fell off the bench. Then the man put the revolver to his own head and fired. He fell beside his victim. Moran called an ambulance from Gouverneur Hospital. The woman was dead, but the man was still living and was taken to the hospital.

ARTIST WHO LOST HUSBAND AND SON

COMES HOME ON ST. PAUL. On the steamship St. Paul vesterday arrived

Mrs. Rachel Hasbrouck, a widow and an artist, recently, and the loss of both husband and son affected her mind. On the voyage the grief stricken mother had to be confined to her stateand attended by a nurse, who accom-southbound train drawing into the One-hunired and sixty-ninth-st. station on the Third-ave. charles Cariberd, thirty-seven years old, who until a week ago live at No. 33 Charles-st. He either threw himself or fell directly in front of the engine from the upper end of the platform. No one except Samuel Turner, the engineer who was running the engine, saw the man fall. He tried to stop the train, but Cariberd was dragged for forty feet along the track before the train came to a stand-still.

The mangled body was taken to the Morrisania police station. One arm and a foot, which were cut off, were found in the street below.

From a revolver found in the dead man's pocket, and the fact that no money was found on him, the police are inclined to think it was suicide.
